Welcome

12th Annual School Resource Officer Conference

July 14-16, 2002

It is a great pleasure to extend a warm welcome to all who have gathered for the 12th Annual School Resource Officer Conference, hosted by the National Association of School Resource Officers.

I commend the organizers and participants of this event for their extraordinary efforts to protect our students. By sharing their time and energy to promote healthy lifestyles and create safe learning environments for California's students, they are helping to build a brighter future for our youth.

On behalf of the people of the State of California, I extend best wishes for a successful event.

Dear NASRO Conference Attendee:

The tragic events of September 11th, 2001 will forever be etched in our minds. Yet, as we attempt to gather and take control over our emotions, we know and understand that the spotlight on our role is burning brighter than ever before. We represent the first line of defense for America's future, our children. What seemed unimaginable before the events of the 11th, now leave us all wondering just what these gutless cowards are planning next.

In the words of our President, George W. Bush, we must stand ready to protect our great country. In doing so, we must be certain we are provided all the tools necessary to carry out the mission of keeping our children, and the schools they attend, safe.

This conference will provide you with an opportunity to hear from, meet and network with some of our nation's leaders in school safety and terrorism. By attending, you will bring back to your community fresh ideas to increase your and your agency's level of readiness. While we must go forward with our lives, we owe it to our children, teachers and staff to be better prepared for what we hope and pray will never occur.

This is also the first time the NASRO Conference has traveled to the Great State of California. We have planned an exciting training agenda for you, as well as, many opportunities to network with the over 1200 SRO's and School Administrators we expect to attend this event. In addition, we know we can count on both the Palm Springs Area Visitors Bureau and the State of California Tourism Council to provide attendees and their families with information on the many attractions throughout the state. From Disneyland to San Diego's Sea World, everything is only a short drive away.

I hope each of you will take advantage of this opportunity. Make your plans early to attend NASRO 2002. This will be a conference you won't want to miss.

I look forward to seeing each of you in Palm Springs!
