

north seattle industrial association

For more than 20 years, NSIA has worked to ensure the economic viability of businesses, increase economic growth, provide gainful employment for our residents, and to be responsible members of our local communities, both socially and environmentally.

NSIA represents the concerns of North Seattle's maritime and industrial businesses and property owners. These businesses and property owners are located in the industrial zone areas of North Seattle in Lake Union, Fremont, Ballard and Interbay.

"WE COUNT ON NSIA TO PROTECT OUR BUSINESS AND OUR INDUSTRIAL AREA. THEY DO A TREMENDOUS JOB OF WORKING WITH GOVERNMENT AGENCIES, SERVING AS A VOICE FOR OUR BUSINESSES AND PROMOTING THE VALUE OF MARITIME AND MANUFACTURING FAMILY WAGE JOBS."

- Warren Aakervik, Ballard Oil

north seattle industrial association

The premier business organization for north seattle maritime, manufacturing and industrial support businesses and its property owners.

"Our business and property owners need a voice on transportation, land use, regulatory policies on business operation, and environmental issues that impact our industrial area. NSIA does exactly that."

– Suzie Burke, Fremont Dock Co.

Industrial Jobs Matter

Today, Seattle's maritime, fishing and industrial sector has never been stronger. We create thousands of family wage jobs, provide a solid tax base and contribute immensely to our community and its quality of life.

From the historic Ballard Locks to Fishermen's Terminal to Lake Union, hundreds of businesses are thriving. They are a critical part of what has made and will continue to make Seattle, Seattle.

For more than 20 years, the North Seattle Industrial Association (NSIA) has brought its businesses and property owner members together to protect and promote the economic health and vitality of area.

We need your membership, participation and support to tell that story.

Making a Difference

Your annual membership benefits your business throughout the year:

Monthly Membership Meetings – a terrific opportunity to discuss key issues with top government, business and community leaders.

e-News – you'll receive regular media stories, government proposals and other key information that can impact your business and its success.

Traffic and Road Construction Updates

– The City of Seattle counts on NSIA to circulate the latest traffic and construction updates to help you get your products to market and your employees to work.

Promoting the Industry – we are a partner in events such as the King County Maritime Annual Economic Forecast Breakfast, the Picnic in the Park to meet potential and current elected officials, and the Maritime 101 and Seafood 101 marketing initiatives.

Meeting the Challenge

Today, there are also significant government policy and regulatory issues that can impact a business and its ability to succeed.

That's where NSIA can help your business.

Thanks to our strong working relationship with the City of Seattle, Port of Seattle, and County, State and Federal governments, we can make a difference.

We have been the leading voice for our area on issues such as the Shoreline Code, utility rates, Viaduct redevelopment/tolls, Mercer Corridor development, Burke-Gilman bicycle trail, Sound Transit service to the neighborhood, Port of Seattle development in Interbay and Fishermen's Terminal and dozens of other important issues. We've also commissioned studies that documents how issues impact us.
